So should I decrease the annual leave by the same amount of time?

Marc,

It has actually been a very quiet week regarding animas. <1 hr a day on minor things.

So no official taskings, just responding if questions come up

ERT,

Below is the charge code for Gold King Mine Blowout response. This is what we have been asked to use to enter our time spent supporting the response. However, if you are called directly by an OSC or other person involved in the response to help, then, before you begin charging, please notify your supervisor of the support request and provide a description of the task.

All,

A simple request. If you have been supporting remotely through official (i.e., 213RR or other requests for support through the ICS) or more casual (i.e., phone call for your assistanc/review of something, etc.) please keep record of your time spent and some details of what you were assisting on. This will be very helpful for us and for payroll related charging and accounting. This is important.

Thanks for all that you are doing in support of this incident.

Marc
